SINCE my business is ADVERTISING, I am taking my own medicine by advertising myself.

I do not intend to boast about myself, but I do want to tell you what I think I can do.

There are many clever men in the field. I know I have the keenest competition to meet but that will not prevent me from getting my share of the business.

I feel so sure of being able to help some business men to do a greater business by adopting the style of advertising I believe in, that I will be willing to take a modest fee, as I am certain you would not like, in fairness to me, that I should render this service absolutely free of charge.

RAILWAY ZOOLUM.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "CHRONICLE."

Sir,—Your correspondent X. Y. Z. has rendered great service to the Indian public in general, and to the mercantile community of Bombay in particular, by quoting the authority of Sir Guilford Molesworth, the former distinguished Consulting Engineer to the Government of India on State Railways, regarding the ever-increasing drain of £15,647,267 from India in the shape of net profits to the companies managing the Indian railways. The figures are so staggering that but for the authority quoted by him I should have considered your correspondent was relating a horrible nightmare. When I first read them I was struck mute with amazement for a few seconds. When I recovered my senses, I began to wonder at the stupendous folly of the Indian nation in paying such a heavy price for a management whose distinguishing features are zoolum on third class passengers and injury to Indian trade and commerce. My last feeling was one of thanksgiving to God for having blessed us with a paper like "The Chronicle" which has opened the eyes of the Indian nation and enabled it to come to a firm determination to abolish company-management without any delay.
In the extract from Sir Guilford's speech of last August, quoted by your correspondent, there is a reference to a reversal of the railway policy of Lord Lawrence. Sir Guilford regards that reversal as most disadvantageous to India; and strongly urges that the policy of Lord Lawrence should be restored. Will your correspondent X. Y. Z. or some other student of railway history enlighten the public as to what was the policy of Lord Lawrence, and why and by whom it was reversed?—Yours, etc.,
A MEMBER OF IND. MERCHANTS' CHAMBER AND BUREAU.

EUROPEAN GIRL KNOCKED DOWN BY A MOTOR.

Mr. A. H. Coweell who came yesterday afternoon to Bombay from Igatpuri with his wife and children, left Victoria Terminus by the gate opposite the Hornby Road and proceeded to the tram station. Mr. Coweell with his youngest daughter Louisa Coweell aged about 8 years was walking near the footpath while his wife and the other children were going along the tramtrack when Louisa ran across the road to join her mother. The father seeing a motor car coming up warned the child who in her attempt to rejoin him ran right into the car. She was knocked down by the right mudguard and the ear immediately stopped. The child was conveyed to the European General Hospital where she was found to have been bruised on the back of the head sustaining also a slight concussion of the brain and detained for treatment. The driver of the car No. 4138, Luxman Geneo was represented by Mr. Coweell to have been proceeding on the proper side of the road and slowly so as not standing to any blame.

HIGH COURT.

FOURTH CRIMINAL SESSIONS

A FATAL QUARREL.

DEFENCE PLEA OF ALIBI.

EMPEROR v. ABDUL JAMAL AKBERSHAH.

(Before Justice Macleod and a Special Jury.)

The accused a Pathan aged 18, was committed to the Sessions on the charge of murdering one Eliyakhan Amirkhan by means of a stick on the 28th of June, 1916.
The Hon. Mr. M. R. Jardine with Mr. M. S. Mehta appeared for the prosecution. Mr. Kazi Kabiruddin defended the accused.
In opening the case for the prosecution the Advocate-General stated that the accused and the deceased were rivetters employed in the foundry of Messrs. Alcock Ashdown & Co. on the 28th of June last, both were talking in a friendly way, when they got excited and the deceased abused the accused and some blows were exchanged between them; the blows were, however, not serious. The other employees of the foundry separated the two and the matter rested there on that day. Next day, the accused did not go to the foundry. The deceased as usual went to work at the foundry and left it for his midday meal at 1 p.m. On his way back to the foundry, he was assaulted with a stick by the accused. It appeared from the nature of the injuries inflicted on him that at least three blows were given by the accused to the deceased. The first blow was struck from behind on the back of his head, the second was across the right temple and the third blow was given after the deceased had fallen down. The assault was witnessed by three persons who raised an alarm. The deceased who was unconscious was removed to the J. J. Hospital, but he did not regain consciousness and died at midnight on that day. The accused was arrested at 6-30 p.m. on that day at the "Dehra" where he lived, and he at once produced a heavy stick with which the prosecution alleged the assault was committed.
The accused pleaded an alibi and stated that he was about the time the alleged offence took place reading a book and reciting his Koran.
The case is being proceeded with.

The Success of Patrick MacGill

Patrick MacGill's leap into fame as a writer of the realistic school has been one of the literary events of recent years. Three years ago he was unknown, now his name and work are familiar to readers throughout the English-speaking world.

"CHILDREN OF THE DEAD END" was a literary sensation. The autobiography of a navvy was something new and strange to the reading public, and ten thousand copies were called for within fifteen days of publication.

Of Patrick MacGill's latest book, THE GREAT PUSH, the first British Edition consists of 25,000 copies. In it he tells of one of the most thrilling episodes in the Great War—the story of Loos.

"From the Trenches"

AN AGITATION AND ITS LESSON.

The Government of India Amendment Act, as it is now to be known, was passed into law and received the Royal Assent on August 17 and will be incorporated in due course in the actual text of the Consolidation Act of last year, which it amends. It does not appear that any amendments of any material importance were inserted by the House of Commons and the Act as passed is practically in the same form as when it left the House of Lords. In fact had it not been for the somewhat cumbersome procedure involved by the necessity of the Commons preserving the appearance of not accepting a bill from the Lords affecting the appropriation of public revenues,—which would be a gross infringement of their prerogative,—and the series of amendments proposed by Colonel Yate, the bill would seemingly have gone through the lower House in all its stages without any discussion at all. In order to get over the difficulty we have mentioned the committee stage was delayed in order that resolutions might be passed that it was "expedient to authorise the payment in certain cases" of such and such charges. These resolutions had to be formally reported to the House before Mr. Roberts on behalf of the Secretary of State could move the insertion of the financial provisions already inserted in the Bill. These provisions were printed in the Bill as received from the House of Lords but were described as "proposed to be inserted in committee," the engaging pretence being indulged in that the House of Lords had not presumed to suggest provisions for the appropriations of public revenues. Thus the constitutional rights of the House of Commons were preserved.

Mr. Roberts made no statement in introducing the Bill, his remarks being confined to dealing with the amendments moved by Colonel Yate. Some of these latter were illustrative of the fiddling grooves in which the official mind works. One of them proposed to confer the title of Honourable on members of the India Council and was promptly ruled out of order by the Chairman as an infringement of the Royal prerogative. Another was designed to assimilate the conditions of the Secretary of State's establishment with those governing appointments to the I.C.S. and another was to empower the Secretary of State to arrange for the transfer of officers from the Government of India Both these were withdrawn when Mr. Roberts pointed out, as regards the first, that it would impose unnecessary tests on the first division clerks of the India Office, and, as regards the second, that it was unnecessary and might have the effect of getting rid of the Parliamentary check on the size of the Secretary of State's establishment. Another amendment on which there was some discussion proposed to render members of the Viceroy's Executive Council ineligible for appointment to any further office in India by the Governor-General. This amendment Colonel Yate sought to justify by a reference to Sir George Chesney's book on "Indian Polity" of 46 years ago. It appears that the same proposal was put forward in the Joint Committee, when Lord MacDonnell said the experience gained as a member of the Government of India had made him a better Lieutenant-Governor than he could otherwise have been. Colonel Yate illogically retorted that his own experience as Chief Commissioner of Baluchistan would have made him a much more valuable member of the Viceroy's Council than if he had not had that experience. We have no doubt that Lord MacDonnell as a Lieutenant-Governor was all the better for having been a member of the supreme Government, but there is much to be said for the view that it would be better if it were understood that the service of a member of the Government of India was to end with the completion of his five years' term, and an end were put to the somewhat undesirable and undignified manoeuvring that goes on among the competitors for the Lieutenant-Governorships among members of the council. Mr. Roberts disposed of the matter by pointing out that the moment was not opportune for the discussion of a question which raised a constitutional issue, as to which there were differences of opinion, and that all questions of Indian administration should await the publication of the Public Services' Commission report. Finally, Colonel Yate moved that the heads of provinces in India should all have the title of governor, instead of lieutenant-governor and chief commissioner. This he carried to a division and found eight members to support him! It is interesting to note that Mr. Roberts in opposing this amendment remarked that the proposal would be more properly considered after the war, when substantial changes would be taking place, involving increased decentralisation. Does this mean that the India Office is already making plans for the carving up of provinces?

It has been rightly remarked that the history of the new Act, which was to come into force on September 1st, is chiefly remarkable for the effect which criticism in India had in changing its form during its passage through Parliament. The two provisions to which objection was chiefly taken have disappeared, namely, the proposal to take away the right to sue the Secretary of State and that to allow members of executive councils to retain an active interest in business firms during their tenure of office. The provisions regarding the admission of subjects of Native States to the British services have also been modified, though not to the extent that was desired. However, there is solid ground for satisfaction in the measure of success achieved by the agitation in this country against the insidious attempt to rush proposals of such a retrograde and revolutionary character through Parliament, without previously consulting, and in defiance of, Indian opinion. The battle was fought between the Secretary of State and public opinion in this country with Parliament as the arbiter, and it is at least a hopeful sign that public opinion won. We trust the lesson will not be lost on those, either in this country or in Whitehall, who think they hold in their hands the power to dispose of the destinies of the people of this country.

THE UNITED STATES AND THE ALLIES

Perhaps the greatest disappointment of the war,—a disappointment that has constituted a sore trial for democracy,—has been the attitude of hesitant neutrality adopted by the Government of the United States. The disappointment has been the keener because of the certain knowledge that the moral judgment of the vast majority of Americans ever since the outbreak of the war has been unmistakably with the Allies. The net result of the official neutrality of the United States has been that the average Englishman has come to believe,—rightly or wrongly,—that it does not greatly matter what the American people are thinking. Nevertheless, no belligerent country can afford to be indifferent to the movements of neutral opinion, and especially of the opinion of the most populous democracy of the world, whatever may be the view held for the time being of the policy of its official heads. And especially the immense advantage cannot be lost sight of which the Allies have enjoyed over the enemy through having with them the moral support of the bulk of the American people. That this advantage has not been sufficiently realised has, to some extent, been inevitable. Many circumstances, as a writer in the "New Statesman" points out, have tended to obscure it. Among them are the official neutrality of Washington with its failure to uphold The Hague, occasional expressions in Mr. Wilson's speeches, the language of Mr. Lansing's notes upon our maritime policy, the common belief that America is growing rich at the expense of the belligerent countries and while doing so, is exhibiting a shameful indifference to the agony of Europe and to the profound moral issues of the struggle.

Whatever the policy and bearing of the most powerful neutral nation in times such as these, the writer proceeds, it is only to be expected that the mass of people in England and France would show a certain measure of of disappointment and resentment towards the United States.

While so favourable was until the beginning of the present year the attitude of the American people,—in spite of the erring policy adopted by the Washington Government,—well-informed observers have found that since then the public opinion in America has been undergoing a change,—the existence and causes of which it is important for us to realise. The causes may be analysed, in the first instance, as consisting in disputes as regards questions of trade. The Orders in Council, the continual stiffening of the Blockade and the unsparing completeness with which the mail censorship was applied, just provoked controversy and gradually resentment. "The American people," says the writer in the "New Statesman," "had endured, with unexpected patience, the very thorough consorship of the Anglo-American mails which has been going on since the first year of the war, but it was irritated by the extension of the policy to neutral mail steamers. One reason for this is that, whereas the Orders in Council and the regular blockade mainly affect the large producers and distributers, who understand the international situation and are ready to take the risks of trading in war-time, the inteference in the neutral mails with letters and parcels (often containing money or securities) touches a multitude of individuals on both sides of the Atlantic, and tends to spread among the people in the main friendly to the Allies, a feeling of irritation against the power which controls the seas."

But, after all, these are minor matters. They may lead to bickerings, but they cannot have any serious effect on Anglo-American relations What is, however unfortunately, of really great significance is the effect produced in America by the resolutions of the Paris Conference. In all the most influential American papers, says the writer we have already quoted, "the folly of a war of tariffs after the war is dwelt upon, and in many quarters the conclusion is drawn that if, in the event, full force should be given to the scheme foreshadowed in the resolutions, the Allied Nations would be found in a protective league which would be hostile to the Western Continent as well as to the Central European Combination." It is not, in fact, surprising that Americans should ask how an economic war after peace, aimed at punishing Germany and her allies, could be devised which would not, in effect, punish neutrals like America? That the existence of such ideas must injuriously affect the Allied cause,—though it cannot engender sympathy for our enemies,—should be a matter of concern to us. Besides all these influences at work there have been the record of the Irish revolt and the impression caused by the measures taken for its suppression. Irish America forms an important element of the polyglot population of the United States and it is idle to expect it soon to forget the unfortunate lapse of statesmanship in regard to the treatment of the rebels and the settlement of the Home Rule question. This, and other considerations indicated above, cannot but be distressing to the British people; but they must be faced and taken account of. They cannot be ignored, much as we may regret them and resent their implication of unreasoning and selfish indifference to the great cause for which we are fighting and before which all other things, we rightly feel, must pale into nothingness. For what we are fighting for is a stable peace for the world, ensured by a league of liberal pacific powers. And that such a league may come into being the active co-operation of the United States is of high importance.

Notes of the Day.

Sympathy with Indian Aspirations.

Mr. Chamberlain seems to have had a flash of statesmanlike imagination, induced by the feelings engendered in the contemplation of cinematograph pictures of the activities of Indian troops in France and Flanders. He hoped that the comradeship of British and Indian troops in arms would rouse throughout the Empire keener interest in Indian problems and "secure for Indian aspirations the entire sympathy of all parts of the King's Dominions." That is what we are all hoping. And we believe that the hope has been largely realised but the sentiment does not appear as yet to have penetrated the double steel-plated armament of the India Office. If on his return to Whitehall Mr. Chamberlain's noble and praiseworthy sentiments have not evaporated, perhaps he will be able to translate them into a practical declaration, which will give some assurance to the people of India that sympathy with Indian aspirations will not always be merely lip-sympathy,—that is assuming that when Mr. Chamberlain speaks of Indian aspirations, he means the aspirations of the Indian people and not the narrow interpretation of them by the sun-dried bureaucrats who surround him in the India Office.

To Fight Corruption.

At the last meeting of the Punjab Legislative Council there was an interpellation on the question of corruption in the public service. The Government reply of course expressed the determination of the Government to do all that could be done to cleanse the public service. Sir Michael O'Dwyer referring to this subject stated in his closing speech:

It is a real satisfaction to see that public opinion is awakening to a sense of its duty. Government will not hesitate to impress on its officers in all departments their responsibility towards the public; and Government expects in return that the public will do their duty by setting their face against the bribe-giver whatever his status in society and the bribe-taker whatever his grade in the public service."

The question has gained prominence owing to certain recent cases in the Punjab Courts dealing with bribes taken by public servants.

Some Practical Suggestions.

A Lahore paper offers some practical suggestions for coping with the evil. One of these is that all complaints against Government officials should be treated as privileged, and that there should be a special Bureau of complaints for their investigation. The Government consider this suggestion as unpractical "so long as false complaint retains its popularity as a weapon of offence or revenge," and further observe that the real remedy lies in the public making a bold stand against corruption and boycotting those who practise it. The advice as to boycotting corrupt persons is a counsel of perfection,—especially when regard is had to the power and influence which officials, corrupt or honest, exercise. The generalisation that the making of false complaints is a popular pastime, is an exaggeration of a tendency common to all human kind. The real fact is that private individuals are generally, with good reason, much too timorous of bringing complaints even against corrupt officials.

Indian Territorials.

"Scrutator," writing in the "Westminster Gazette," urges that the army in India could be run much more efficiently and just as cheaply with a smaller first line force and a larger territorial reserve. He points out that it would be quite practicable to train the Indian agriculturist for four or five months each year, and to pay him a sufficient retaining fee to make it worth his while to enlist in the territorial army. It would be necessary, of course, says "Scrutator," to establish an Indian Sandhurst, and to officer the territorials on the same principle as the Imperial Service Corps. The officers should be selected from the landed and other responsible classes and the District Officer should nominate likely candidates in consultation with the military supervising officers, his proposals being countersigned by the Commissioner of the Division. The writer expresses his approval of the Bengali double company as a criterion of the possibilities of "extending military service to races hitherto excluded."

The Vernacular in Schools.

There are probably few questions which have been exercising more anxious consideration of those interested in education than that of the place of the vernaculars in the educational system. Whatever the views of some who are opposed to the vernacular being a medium of instruction in the higher standards of our schools, there is a general agreement that the state of vernacular teaching in the schools is far from what it ought to be. Any effort at improvement in this direction, therefore, cannot but command general acceptance. It is, therefore, satisfactory to note that the Punjab Government at the last meeting of the local legislative council accepted a resolution on this subject The resolution recommended "that a General Education Conference should be summoned to report whether the teaching and study of vernaculars in the schools are on a satisfactory basis, and if not, whether a Committee should be appointed to report what defects exist and what are their causes and remedies, more particularly in regard to the method of teaching, preparation of text-books, and the time devoted to imparting instruction in vernaculars." The terms of the resolution are fairly comprehensive and are as much applicable to conditions in other parts of the country as to those in the Punjab. The result of the deliberation of the Conference and of the Committee, if one is appointed, will be awaited with keen interest in other parts of the country also.

A Gloomy Picture of Hamburg.

Facing us is a grey giant,—the Imperator. In her vast spaces all is desolation. What we principally notice is the brass frames of the portholes, which are still in their places. The Treasury spared them, because it would have meant too much work to take them away. There are 2,000 in the ship, and the weight of metal in them is 75,000 kilos. (about 70 tons).

This shows how thoroughly the German authorities have commandeered the metals of the Empire. Incidentally the writer laments the fact that, besides everything else, the Imperator is costing the Hamburg Company 25 to 30 tons of coal a day for electric light and pumping; and he warns his readers that it will be many months after the war before she and her sisters can put to sea again.

LEGION OF HONOUR.

AN ADDED DISTINCTION

Since the war the Legion of Honour has been bestowed only for military valour, and has been given to no civilians; but says the "Morning Post," correspondent at Paris, many civilians who are now soldiers were Knights of the Legion of Honour before the war and have won the distinction twice over by gallantry at the front. The French Government, as it cannot confer the decoration twice, has hit upon a pleasant expedient. Knights of the Legion of Honour who have won the red ribbon in civilian life and who deserve it a second time are officially informed that the decoration which they already had is henceforth converted from a civilian to a military one. The Military Legion of Honour carries with it a pension of £10 a year, whereas the civilian Legion of Honour gives no pension.

Here are two cases in point. M. Surugue, mayor of a small country town, volunteered at the outbreak of war, at the age of 76, as a plain soldier. He had fought in 1870, and won the rank of lieutenant. After serving at the front since June, 1915, he has just been promoted sub-lieutenant at the age of 78. Many years ago he had the Legion of Honour bestowed for long service in the peaceful occupation of Government road surveyor. His civilian red ribbon has now, as reward for his constant gallantry at the front, been converted into a military one, with pension. The same honour has been bestowed upon the well-known sculptor Paul Moreau Vauthier, who had some years ago been decorated as an artist, for his fine monument in Pere Lachaise. He has been at the front since the beginning of the war, and was wounded at Verdun, and his sculptor's red ribbon has been converted into a soldier's one. The sculptor, now a second lieutenant of middle-age, was an anti-militarist before the war,—and, as he also tells, still is. Meanwhile he has won the Military Cross as well as the red ribbon.

BRITISH BOARD OF SCIENCE.

On the initiative of the Royal Society a Board of Scientific Societies has been established in Great Britain. It consists of representatives of 27 scientific and technical societies with power to add to the number and to appoint to sub-committees persons who are not connected with the constituent societies.

Among the objects of the board are to promote the co-operation of those interested in pure or applied science; and to supply means by which the opinion of the country may find effective expression on matters relating to science, industry, and education.

An executive committee has been appointed under the chairmanship of Sir Joseph Thomson, the President of the Royal Society, the other members being Dr. Dugald Clerk, Sir Robert Hadfield, Mr. A D. Hall, Professor Herbert Jackson, who is the honorary secretary, Sir Alfred Keogh, Sir Ray Lankester, Professor Arthur Schuster, Sir John Snell, Professor E. H. Starling, Lord Sydenham, and Mr. R. Threlfall.

THE WAR.

SUMMARY OF TELEGRAMS.

SOMME PUSH.

BETHUNE-PERONNE ROAD REACHED.

RUSSIANS OCCUPY KAPUL MOUNTAIN.

ALLIED ADVANCE IN MACEDONIA.

The French on Tuesday assumed a vigorous offensive on a front of six kilometres between Combles and the Somme. The French with irresistible dash carried the whole German first line and pushing on captured Hill 145, Marrieres Woods and whole of enemy trenches as far as Bethune Peronne Road.

British artillery caused two large conflagrations in the enemy's ammunition depot at Grandcourt. There was some hostile artillery fire against Delville Wood and Moquet farm.

The British engaged in violent fighting on the Struma and stormed the village of Nevoljan. A vigorous allied offensive north of Majadan captured Bulgarian trenches on a front of three kilometres to a depth of 800 metres. A French detachment co-operating with the British has captured the village of Yenimah, securing prisoners.

The Russians have captured several heights in the region of the Bielytchermoch river in the Carpathians, while in the Wooded Carpathians they have occupied Kapul mountain and a ridge nearby, taking numerous prisoners and war material. They have further progressed in the Caucasus.

As a result of Roumanian occupation of Orsoa the Austrian river fleet or the upper Danube is unable to assist or communicate with Austrian units below Orsova.

The Italians progressed at Vallarsa and in the Upper Posina valley and repulsed an enemy attack in that region.

M. Zaimis, the Greek Premier has resigned. It is believed in Greek official circles that even King Constantine will not be able to avoid a change of Government, which is now the only hope of settling the crisis.

INDIA'S CONTRIBUTION TO WAR.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S TRIBUTE.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

LONDON, Sept. 11.

In the course of his speech at the exhibition of films showing the activities of Indian troops in France and Flanders, Mr. Chamberlain said that all recognised the heroic efforts of the Indian troops to relieve the garrison at Kut and sympathised with, and shared the disappointment of, the force that they had been beaten by physical difficulties and climatic conditions and floods in Mesopotamia. That effort, great as it had been, was only one of the many undertakings to which India had contributed. He hoped that comradeship in arms between the British, Dominion and Indian troops would rouse throughout the Empire keener interest in Indian problems and secure for Indian aspirations the entire sympathy of all parts of the King's Dominions.

AUSTRIA'S COLLAPSE IMMINENT.

CERTAIN RUPTURE OF GERMAN FRONT.

GENERAL BRUSSILOFF INTERVIEWED.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

ALLAHABAD, Sept. 13.

The "Pioneer's" correspondent cables:—London, September 11.—M. Ludovic Mandeau sends the "Daily Chronicle" an account of an interview with General Brussiloff, who expressed the opinion that the Austro-Hungarian Empire, assaulted on all sides, would not be able to stand much longer against its enemies, who were preparing an increase in the vigour of their blows.

"The army before me," he said, "in June and July was almost exterminated and has been replaced by a conglomerate army more numerous and representing the last living rampart of the Austro-Hungarian Monarchy. It resists desperately in strong mountain positions, but we are advancing step by step. The Roumanian co-operation will soon facilitate the obtaining of definite results."

Referring to the Franco-British offensive, which was preventing the sending of Germans eastward on any but a minor scale, General Brussiloff said: "I understand the enormous obstacles you have to overthrow, but am fully convinced your efforts will result in a rupture of the German front. It is for me an absolute certainty."

NEW V. C. HEROES.

TWO GALLANT DEEDS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

ALLALHABAD, Sept. 13.

The "Pioneer's" correspondent cables:—Eight of the twenty new recipients of Victoria Crosses were killed. One of these McFadzean, of the Royal Irish Rifles, was opening a box of bombs when the box slipped down into a trench crowded with men. Two of the safety pins fell out. McFadzean, himself a bomber, knew the inevitable result and threw himself upon the bombs, which blew him to pieces. Only one other man was injured.

Perhaps the most picturesque of the twenty published stories of valour is that of Drummer Ritchie, Seaforth Highlanders, who stood on the parapet of an enemy trench, under machine-gun fire and bomb attacks, sounding the charge, thereby rallying many men of various units who, having lost their leaders, were wavering and beginning to retire.

MESOPOTAMIA CAMPAIGN.

EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS WITH TURKS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

SIMLA, Sept. 13.

The following telegram, dated the 11th September, has been received from "Eye-Witness," Mesopotamia:—

There has been further exchange of sick and wounded prisoners between us and the Turks. Eleven officers, eleven medical establishments and 305 soldiers passed through Busrah to-day in hospital ships en route for India.

The general feeling seems to be that the Turkish medichi arrangements are as good as could be expected in the conditions existing. Apparently there were no epidemics. All prisoners were, however, inoculated against cholera. The prisoners report no limit to length or frequency of correspondence, the only restrictions being that the letters should be written in English and delivered in open envelopes. They were very doubtful if their letters reached home. The Turkish officers rarely, if ever, were met with who could speak English. Some spoke indifferent French. For rations the prisoners received fresh mutton, kabob or stew, daily rice and brown bread and some vegetables. White bread and cakes could be bought in Baghdad and fruit in season. No butter or jam or tin milk could be had. Soap and tooth brushes were unprocurable. The usual drink was water, occasionally stiff lemonade. There was no coffee, but sugar and tea could be bought; sugar at four rupees a cone. It is rumoured in Baghdad that the British lady prisoners from Baghdad are not at Aleppo.

BRITISH PRISONERS IN GERMANS' HANDS.

It requires a very little amount of imagination to be able to picture the helpless and hopeless state of those who are so unfortunate as to be in the German's power.

As a result of the recent efforts of the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, disclosures have been made which will have enabled the public to realize, not only the terrible position of Germany's prisoners at Ruhleben and in certain other detention camps, but also that it is apparently the intention of the German Government to treat their prisoners more harshly and supply them with less food as the War drags on.

To preserve the lives of these helpless men, the public is earnestly requested to support the organization for their relief.

All subscriptions or contributions should be sent to the Alliance Bank of Simla, Ltd., Simla, or to any of the Bank's Branches.

SEQUEL TO HUNDI CASE.

NANABHOY CHARGES DADA WITH PERJURY.

NOTICE ISSUED AGAINST RESPONDENT.

An application was made yesterday before Mr. Khairaj, Third Presidency Magistrate, by Mr. D. N. Bahadurji instructed by Messrs. Jamsetji Rustomji and Devidas and Mr. Eotwal, pleader, on behalf of Mr. Nanabhoy Cowasji Engineer praying for sanction to institute proceedings against Haji Ahmed Haji Hassam Dada, on a charge of perjury.

Mr. Nanabhoy in his information alleged:—

1. That on the 7th of April, 1916, the Respondent filed in this Court a complaint against the applicant charging him with criminal misappropriation and criminal breach of trust in respect of two sums of Rs. 1,200 each and a third sum of Rs. 3,000.

2. That the learned Magistrate on the 22nd August, 1916, delivered judgment and acquitted the applicant of the said three charges.

3. That in the course of the trial and on the 9th of May, 1916, the respondent deposed on oath as follows:—

(a) "Mr. Surajmal told me that the accused had misappropriated Rs. 2,400 and I therefore instituted proceedings against the accused in this Court."

(b) "Mr. Surajmal told me that the accused has misappropriated the amounts and I therefore filed the present complaint."

(c) "I now find that the allegations in my complaint are false."

4. That on the 31st of May, 1916, the respondent deposed on oath as follows:—

"It is not true that present complaint was instituted by me at the instance of Mr. Surajmal. The allegations contained in the complaint are true."

The applicant states that either of these statements is false and was made by the Respondent knowing or believing the same to be false or not believing it to be true.

5. That on the 31st May, 1916, the respondent further deposed on oath as follows:—

(a) "We then proceeded to Green's where the accused treated me to champagne and cakes. I think we had two bottles of champagne. ..... The accused took me to his office room on the 3rd floor and there made me sign certain documents. One of the documents was an apology for bringing this case."

(b) "Mr. Navalker said that he had already received the necessary instructions."

The applicant says that both the abovementioned statements are wholly false and the respondent made them knowing or believing them to be false or not believing the same to be true.

6. That on the 2nd June, 1916, the opponent deposed on oath as follows:—

"I wrote the letter of apology in the accused's house on the same night as I visited Green's. It is untrue that it was written the next day at Vachha's office. I did not engage Mr. Navalker but the accused engaged him on my behalf."

The applicant says the above statement is false and was made by respondent knowing or believing it to be false or not believing it to be true.

7. That on the 12th of July, 1916, the respondent deposed on oath as follows:—

"At the instance of the accused I made a false statement on the 9th of May."

The applicant says that the respondent has thus admitted making a false statement on oath.

The applicant prays that sanction be granted to him to institute proceedings against the respondent for perjury.

The Magistrate ordered notice against the respondent to be issued to show cause why sanction should not be granted.

CRUICKSHANK ROAD ACCIDENT.

ACCUSED MOTORIST DISCHARGED.

The Chief Presidency Magistrate, at the Esplanade Police Court, disposed of the case yesterday, in which Mr. Dharamdas Bhagwandas was charged by Inspector Chapman with having driven his motor car on the 9th August along Cruickshank Road so rashly and negligently that the death was caused of Kanyalal Mohan, aged 12, a young actor.

The prosecution was conducted by Mr. E. Ferrers Nicholson, Public Prosecutor while Mr. N. N. Saher, with Mr. Balubhai T. Desai, defended the accused.

After the evidence was recorded a statement was made by the accused, to the effect that as he entered Cruickshank Road from the side of Bori Bunder he saw a victoria going ahead of him and the tramcar going towards Dhobi Talao stopping opposite the Municipal Office. He lessened his speed and sounded the horn. As he went on after the tramcar started he felt something bumping against the right mudguard of his car and applying the brakes forthwith he came out, and saw the boy lying on his back with his head towards the tram lines. The position the tramcar had occupied prevented him from seeing the boy before he ran into the car.

The Magistrate said that he was not in a position to say that the occurrence was not a pure accident and that such accidents were liable to be met by any motorist. Hence he discharged the accused.

ACQUITTED OF ATTEMPT TO KIDNAP.

MAGISTRATE'S SEVERE STRICTURES

Before the Third Presidency Magistrate at the Esplanade Police Court, Inspector Spiers charged Shiba Gopal with attempting to kidnap Lena Grant (12) and Mary Hoy (14).

It was alleged for the prosecution that the girls were being followed by the accused while they were out for a walk on the Apollo Bunder and on the seashore near the Back Bay Baths and he came and sat near them on a bench. He also beckoned to them and followed them and asked them to come to his house.

The defence was that the accused was employed in Rafiya Manzil and his master was ill in the European General Hospital. He used to go there in the morning and return in the evening. On the day in question while he was returning he coughed and spat and the girls who were in front of him got annoyed and abused him by calling him a "damned swine and pig." One of the girls called her father (Atkinson) and he was assaulted by him and received injuries.

The Magistrate said the accused had been very roughly handled and had severe wounds on his forehead, and as he was a poor man unable to pay some legal help should be rendered him gratis. Mr. Banaji then appeared for the accused.

Reginald Atkinson, a stores accountant in the G. I. P. Railway at Parel, said that both the girls were in his charge. On last Monday evening they told him that the accused was following them and on Tuesday at about 7-30 p.m. Mary told witness that the accused was talking to Lena at Convent Street on the Wodehouse Road. Witness saw the accused following Lena at a distance and he gave chase and the accused ran up against a spiral staircase and fell down when the witness caught him and as he tried to wrestle with him gave him some blows. He could not say, however, how the accused came by his severe injuries.

The girls corroborated the evidence given by Atkinson and said the accused used to sit near them at a distance of two or three yards. They were not frightened when he beckoned to them, or followed them on the Apollo Bunder and Bandstand and on the Back Bay seashore.

"OUGHT NOT TO HAVE BEEN CHARGED."

The Magistrate in giving his decision said the less he said about the evidence the better it was. It was a pity that the accused was assaulted in a brutal manner. It was extremely regrettable that Atkinson should have taken the law into his own hands and assaulted him in a brutal manner. If there was anything against the accused it was the duty of Atkinson to hand him over to the Police instead of taking the law in his own hands and brutally assaulting the accused. The accused should take proceedings against Atkinson for handling him so roughly. The evidence was so clumsy and so unsatisfactory that the accused ought never to have been charged. The Magistrate discharged the accused and expressed a hope that the accused would take action against Atkinson. His worship proposed to forward the papers to the proper authorities and ordered the case to be struck off as one of mistake of facts.

RETIRING ALLOWANCE TO INDIA OFFICE OFFICIALS.

In the House of Commons on August 10, Mr. Charles Roberts moved "That it is expedient to authorise the payment, in certain cases, out of the revenues of India, of a retiring allowance to the auditor of the accounts of the Secretary of State for India in Council and his assistants, and of a gratuity to the legal representatives of the said auditor and his assistants, under any Act of the present Session, to amend certain enactments relating to the Government of India, and to remove doubts as to the validity of certain Orders in Council made for India."

Mr. Joseph King objected on principle to another indefinite financial resolution without any limit of fund. He supposed it was limited to a small amount because it was only for a retiring allowance for the auditor of the accounts or his assistants. There might be an indefinite number of assistants, and they might all be very high salaried officials. It was a very unsatisfactory principle to have no sum put in a financial resolution.

Mr. Roberts said that one of the provisions dealt with a small flaw in the original Consolidation Bill which was passed last Session. The law did not allow a retiring allowance or a gratuity to be paid to the assistants or the auditor of the revenues of India, and it was in order to meet that point that this Resolution had now to be proposed, simply because the Bill originated in the House of Lords and not in the House of Commons. He assured the House that it dealt with an extremely small amount of money, and was purely to save the technical privileges of the House of Commons.

The Resolution was subsequently reported to the House and agreed to.

RASH DRIVING.

DRIVER FINED RS. 50.

Before the Third Presidency Magistrate at the Esplanade Police Court, Solomon Jacob and Reuben Ezikiel, taxi-drivers, were charged by Inspector Sheehy with driving their cars along Wodehouse Road, in a rash manner and on the wrong side of the road. The Court fined them Rs. 50 each.

PATNA COLLEGE STUDENTS ON STRIKE.

BOTH HINDU AND MOSLEM STUDENTS AGGRIEVED

(Associated Press.)

BANKIPORE, Sept. 13.

Over 300 students of the Patna College have gone on strike alleging that the Principal of the College has declined to listen to their grievances. The Mahomedan students in the college hostel allege that the "Ajan" prayers have been stopped, while the Hindu students in the hostel have grievances against the Brahmo superintendent of the hostel. With the exception of about forty students all the rest sympathised with the boarders and refused to turn in. Mr. S. Sinha, Indian Member of the Committee of the College and Prof. Jadunath Sirkar who commands great respect from students, as evidenced from the fact that they have elected him President of forthcoming Behar Students' Conference, made many attempts to persuade the students to attend classes but failed. The students have memorialised the Lieutenant-Governor, the Director of Public Instruction and the Maharaja of Darbhanga and are threatening not to attend the college until all their grievances are removed.

BANKIPORE, Sept. 13.

The students' strike in the Patna College ended suddenly this morning. Several prominent citizens advised the students to unconditionally give in, promising to do their utmost to get their grievances redressed. This the students agreed to, and the matter has happily terminated.

TRAM-CAR INCONVENIENCES AT PAREL.

To The Editor of "The Chronicle"

Sir,—I wish to draw the attention of the Tramway Company authorities to the great inconvenience which the tram-car passengers at Parel have to undergo during the monsoon. As I have been residing at Parel I have had the sad experience for many long years; and I have been a victim to this grievance due to the entire cessation of the running cars when it has been raining cats and dogs.

The collection of a large amount of water from the Victoria Gardens in the Parel Bazaar is not a new event; it has been happening since many years; but as the tramcars were formerly drawn by horses, the traffic was never stopped, although the water was knee-deep. The electric tramcars do not run when the water has collected above a certain level and sometimes the public is inconvenienced for two to four hours; nay, even for a whole day the cars are stationary. Of course considering the large number of passengers it must be a serious loss to the Tramway Company. It is not only the business men and the working class who have to suffer but women and children have also to undergo a great amount of hardship. If the Company were to consider the plans suggested by Mr. H. P. Kabraji, these hardships would be swept away.

Yours etc;

INDIAN "SILVER CHAIN" OF FRIENDSHIP

In Canada the Metlakahtla chiefs have contributed generously towards the Red Cross and other war funds. The Duke of Connaught, in thanking them, wrote:—

Reading speeches made by former Governors to the Indian Sachems and their replies, I find constant reference to "the silver chain" which bound together their mutual interests, and each meeting and renewal of friendship made the chain bgrihter and stronger. I find, in your late action, evidence that you wish the chain to be preserved, and for my part I accept your gifts and acknowledge that the chain has been brightened and strengthened by them.

AHMEDABAD TOPICS.

LOYALTY BONDS AGAIN—THE COMMISSIONER AND THE MUNICIPALITY—THE CONFERENCES.

(From our Correspondent.)

The ways of officials are indeed inscrutable. For no sooner had I criticised on the last occasion the conduct of the Divisional Educational Inspector in attempting to get loyalty bonds signed by teachers of the private schools here than he hastened to inform the unfortunate teachers, who had unwarily signed them, that they were not precluded from taking part in any political or quasi-political activities. Indeed it would almost seem as if the responsible officer was half-conscious of the mistake he had committed and was ready to make amends for it the very moment it was publicly criticised. Your correspondent is not, yet in a position to know if the Inspector wishes to take a few assistant deputy inspectors with him when he goes on his inspection tour next year. But Managers of the unaided schools have deeply resented this assault upon their dignity and independence and it is more than likely that the Department may not repeat this bad joke again. One would heartily wish that the Government officers spared us the pinpricks and the consequent trouble of criticising them in the press.

THE MUNICIPAL COMMISSIONER.

The businesslike people of this city have taken kindly to the appointment of an I. C. S. officer as the Municipal Commissioner. These officers ought to take special pains therefore to loyally carry out in all matters the wishes of the people as expressed in the decisions of the Municipality and to steer clear of all the party struggles. But the commissioner of this city—who by-the-bye, has not been in this city for more than a year—has so far forgotten his position that he has actually gone about canvassing votes in favour of the European Engineer before his claims were fully discussed. Some doubt was felt as to his alleged aggressiveness when the Chairman gave very ambiguous answers to Mr. Mulchand's questions, but now it has been practically proved beyond any shadow of doubt by his own letter, which the Municipality recorded after much discussion at its last meeting. The Commissioner has expressed the very weighty opinion in the letter that requesting the councillors' support for a proposal after giving due consideration to it did not amount to canvassing. One indeed wonders whether the commissioner is the obedient servant of the municipality or its thought inspirer or its expert Unfortunately two amendments more or less condemnatory of the commissioner's opinion were lost and the municipality missed a great opportunity of impressing on their executive officer's mind a sense of his proper duties and responsibilities.

SANITARY ASSOCIATION.

This city took a great step in advance when the Sanitray Association was inaugurated in the last week with a view to educate the people in sanitary matters, as also to represent the sanitary grievances of the people before the municipality and the Government. Seth Mangaldas Girdhardas has consented to be its president and Dr. Kanuga, Dr. Samat and Dr. Bhagat have been appointed secretaries. One would have thought that the first meeting of this institution would have passed off peacefully. But an unfortunate discussion arose when the Deputy Sanitary Commissioner put forward the remarkable proposal that he should be appointed an ex-officio member of the managing committee. He should have congratulated himself on his appointment on the committee and not insisted as he actually did that this body should be as official-ridden as many others of the kind in the Presidency. Few officers still realise that they are not always and everywhere indispensable and that there is an entity called the People on whose tacit consent all institutions and Governments are based.

THE CONFERENCES.

The President of the Reception Committee of the Provincial Congress has generously placed his splendid grounds near the Ellis Bridge at the disposal of the committee which has decided to erect a spacious pavilion there. A committee has been appointed to prepare the preliminary draft of the resolutions which will soon be circulated among the various District Congress Committees for their information and suggestion. The Educational Conference has published its first bulletin which indicates the progress made in its preparations. Very voluminous and satisfactory answers have been received to the several questions put to the local boards and municipalities, and an abstract of these is being made ready for the use of the conference. All the native states of Gujarat and Kathiawar have been requested to give a general permission to their teachers and officers to attend the conference and several big states have readily acceded to this request. The report of the committee appointed to report on the suitablity of the present curriculum and text-books will also be put before the conference. Lastly the reception committee of the Social Conference has decided to include the question of social well-being like co-operation and compulsory education within the scope of their discussion and resolutions. It is to be hoped that social reformers from outside will fully approve of this much-needed departure and carry out the new programme with necessary zest and energy.

An Order in Council has been drafted establishing control over the woollen manufacturing trade with a view to limiting prices. The schedule specifies "all materials wholly or partly manufactured from wool." The Order as at present framed is vague as to whether the control will apply to the manufacture of materials for military requirements only, or extend to the whole of the manufacturing trade. This point is under consideration.

Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson and Sir William Burne have completed their inquiry in Dublin, and their report will shortly be ready.

ENGLAND AND THE HOLY SEE.

SIR HENRY HOWARD'S DEPARTURE.

The news of Sir Henry Howard's departure from the British Legation to the Holy See has been received with the greatest regret by all who have followed his work since his arrival in Rome in December, 1914, says the Rome correspondent of the "Morning Post." Before that date, if it had not been for the patriotic efforts of Cardinal Gasquet, who was fortunately resident in this city, the Central Empires would have had no one to gainsay them at the Vatican. They had accredited to the Holy See the Lutheran Jew, Herr von Muhlberg, who represented Prussia, and his colleagues, the Austrian Ambassador to the Vatican and the Bavarian Minister, whereas our group of States had representatives only in the case of Russia and Belgium, while at the Pope's elbow there sat (and still sits) the Austrian, Mgr. Gerlach.

When Sir Henry Howard arrived the Clerical Press was certainly not favourable to the Triple Entente, while Herr von Muhlberg was daily at the Vatican. Soon, however, thanks to the efforts of the new British Minister and his able staff (of which Mr. Duncan Gregory, of the Foreign Office, was the chief,) a change became visible. The Prussian diplomatist was so enraged that for three weeks he never once set foot within the Vatican; the Clerical Press became less unfavourable, and, as time went on, even in some cases favourable, to the Triple Entente. Mr. Asquith's visit to the Pope, the first ever paid by a British Prime Minister, greatly pleased the Vatican, and Cardinal Gasparri, the Papal Secretary of State, hastened to assure Sir Henry Howard of the Pope's satisfaction. Politically, therefore, the establishment of this mission has been an unqualified success, and this (as an Italian Anti-Clerical remarked to the writer) has been in no small degree due to the tact and sound commonsense of the typical English gentleman who was at its head.

FAMOUS AVIATOR'S DEATH.

CAREER OF M. BRINDEJONC DES MOULINAIS.

The death of Sub-Lieutenant Brindejonc des Moulinais, the famous French aviator was announced in mail week. He was flying in the neighbourhood of Verdun and his machine fell, apparently as the result of the collapse of some essential part of its structure. He had a brilliant career as a flyer before the war and several times had narrow escapes. His first exploit was in July, 1911, when rising in a gale from Issy-les-Moulineaux he attempted to reach Rheims, but fell at Billancourt shortly after. The accident cost him several weeks in hospital. Later in the year he was flying over Toulouse and intended to drop handbills there, but one of the packets blocked the petrol pipe and the machine dived and was smashed on the roof of a schoolroom. His injuries on this occasion were only slight. In 1912 he attempted a height record at Pau, achieving 3,350 metres. Later on in that year he took part in the Paris-Berlin flight, but again met with an accident. In February of the following year he flew from Villacoublay to London in three and a half hours. In June the same year he carried out his most successful flight for the Pommery Cup. Leaving Villacoublay at 3.57 a.m., he lunched at Berlin and left the same afternoon at 3.37, landing at 5.15 p.m. at Warsaw, having covered in the day 930 miles. After this brilliant success he made a long aerial tour over Russia, Sweden, Denmark, and the Low Countries. Later, at the Rheims Meeting in September, he won the speed race. Since the war Brindejonc has been engaged chiefly in training pilots and in defending the entrenched camp at Paris. He was twenty-three years of age.

The Bengal Government has appointed Miss Tatini Gupta as professor of Mathematics in the Bethune College, Calcutta. Miss Gupta stood 1st in the Matriculation and Intermediate Arts Examination and in the B.A. examination. She secured first class honours in Sanskrit with fourth seat in order of merit.

A GERMAN AMAZON.

WOMAN GUERILLA'S MISSION OF VENGEANCE.

News has reached this country of the appearance in the field of war in East Africa in the Kilima Nyato region—of a German virago who is said to be leading a body of native troops without the assistance of any other European. The wild district in which this truculent lady is, or was, operating contains the fabled Mountains of the Moon and from her strongholds she is stated to have waged a savage guerilla warfare against our forces.

Among the fighting forces and residents in British East Africa this white Amazon is known as the Bibi Sacharini, a name which has been given her by the natives. The Askaris, the native soldiers fighting with the British forces, and also the natives who have been fighting for the Germans and taken prisoners, tell amazing stories of the exploits of this white woman fighter. The native story is that she is the wife of a German commandant who was killed in the fight which took place at Longido on Sept. 25, 1914. It was after this encounter that the natives began bringing in stories of the doings of the Bibi Sacharini. They said that she was so grief-stricken over the death of her husband that she became mad and swore that she would not only wage war on the British, but would make it particularly hot for any British officer who was unfortunate enough to fall into her hands. It is further stated that the woman has been seen through glasses by many British officers, always surrounded by her black troops. She rides astride, is a wonderful shot, and a great master of strategy.

A solemn commemoration of Captain Battisti, the Martyr of Trent, was held by the Italian colony in London on the initiative of the Societa Nationale Dante Alighieri and other Italian institutions on Saturday August 26, at 3.30 p.m. in the hall of the Y.M.C.A. Among the speakers was his Excellency the Italian Ambassador.

STANDARD BAROMETER READING.

The following information is published in order that vessels in the Bombay Harbour may by comparison with a standard instrument ascertain the errors of their barometers:—

The reading of the Standard Barometer in the Colaba Observatory corrected for index error and reduced to 80 deg. F. and to the level of the tide, at 8-45 a.m., Standard Time on the 13th September 1916 was 29.813 inches. For temperature corrections applicable to mercurial barometer of ships the reading of the ship's barometer has to be increased or decreased by .031 inch for every 5 degrees according as the temperature of the attached thermometer is respectively below or above 80 deg. F. In case of the aneroid no temperature correction is needed. But for comparison at 80 deg. F. all aneroid readings should be increased by .138 inch. For correcting the ship's barometer either mercurial or aneroid for the height of the barometer cistern above the tide level in the stream at 8-45 a.m. Standard Time, the ship's barometer reading should be increased by .010 inch for every 10 feet of the height to make it comparable with the observatory barometer reading given.
